

Information to customers, business partners and suppliers

Dear customers, business partners and suppliers,

The corona pandemic has led to extreme impacts in private, public and economic life worldwide. The Marquardt Group has therefore taken far-reaching measures, about which we would like to inform you transparently and - in case of possible changes - as promptly as possible. Our top priority is your health and that of your and our employees!

We have therefore already shifted our daily work to the digital world as far as possible and cancelled all business trips and events. In addition, we must now take further painful but necessary steps: In the coming weeks, we will significantly reduce or completely shut down our production capacities at most of our sites. Administrative activities will also be discontinued or located to home office as far as possible.

Urgent development projects are excluded from this regulation. We have also defined a circle of persons that is absolutely necessary for the maintenance of certain operating procedures. This group is not affected by the closure period or is only affected in phases. Your main contact persons will inform you separately.

We are monitoring further developments very closely and will resume our business operations flexibly and in accordance with the recommendations and requirements of the health authorities as quickly as possible. We will also contact you as soon as we can foresee that business operations will be resumed.

We thank you for your trust and wish you continued good health!

With kind regards
Marquardt Group
